Subject: Malaria?

To: "Leon Parisoe" <leon@parisoe.com>

Dear Praying Friends,

Yesterday when we were loading the truck I started aching, took some tylenol and felt better. This afternoon, I did the same again but felt worse and worse despite the tylenol. I then, began to have a fever. I took my tempature and yep! It is malaria!

I have not had malaria for over 16 years. In all of the 38 years in and around here, I have only had it about three times. I just never get malaria.

Someone has said that we see spiritual opposition behind every door. I wonder what we as Christians so with Ephesians 6:12?

Are some of our problems just Congo? Of course. Are some things being allowed by the Lord for our spiritual sharpening?

Of course. But I have no doubt that this attack is from the enemy.

Will it delay our departure to Katako Kombe tomorrow? No way!

Do I feel punk? You bet but hey, I am a strong woman or I would not be doing what I am doing. We will carry on!

I would appreciate your prayers though for my health especially as we travel tomorrow.

Thanks, Marty
